NEW YORK BANKER "Not Guilty" of Income Tax Fraud

Former Chairman of National City Bank Overcome by Emotion as Jury Brings in Verdict—Jurymen Had Returned Three Times

NEW YORK, June 22.—Charles E. Mitchell was acquitted today of all counts in the indictment which charged him with income tax evasion.

The jury which had heard the government charges that Mitchell, former chairman of the National City Bank, had cheated the government in 1929 and 1930 of more than $850,000 in income taxes, took the case at 11:25 a.m., E.S.T., yesterday.

It returned the verdict a little more than 30 hours later.

The jury had been instructed that it could convict or acquit on all the charges together, or could convict or acquit on any one charge.

RETURNED THREE TIMES

The jury returned for instructions three times, once yesterday and twice today. It was at the conclusion of the third appearance of the jury in the courtroom that the verdict acquitting Mitchell on all counts was returned.

As the jury stepped to its feet as he heard the verdict, "not guilty," pronounced and grabbed the hand of Max S. Stuer, his counsel. His face was fiery red, his eyes filled with tears.

Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard requested the jurors not to discuss the case publicly and dismissed them.

"I can't talk now—I'm too moved," Mitchell said as the crowd pressed around him as he left the courtroom.

He made this statement: "This verdict proves that in the state of New York justice can still be had by the verdict of a jury that neither mob psychology nor emotion will enter the final determination."

Mitchell was like a man in a dream as he left the court room.

Max D. Stuer, his chief counsel, pressed through to his side. Mitchell reached an arm around the lawyer's shoulders. He grasped him by the hand.

"Thanks, Max, thanks," he whispered.

And Stuer, smiling, nodded his head.

Search for Trans-Atlantic Aviators Redoubled on Thursday

MEXICO CITY, June 22.—Aviators redoubled their search today for two Spanish trans-Atlantic fliers, long overdue on a flight from Havana after many men returned from a fruitless search in mountains southeast of here where the Spaniards were reported to have crashed.

President Rodriguez' office received reports indicating the fliers, Capt. Mariano Barberan and Lieut. J. Coliar, might have been forced down by storms and had continued westward.

A report last night said the Spaniards plane had crashed on La Maniche mountain and that Lt. Coliar had been killed, and his companion hurt. However, the Spanish ambassador declared this report appeared untrue, as numerous attempts had failed to verify the rumors.

LOST HIS TEMPER

There was no doubt, the magistrate continued that 1933 Montagu was drunk when he assaulted the two fliers. Montagu's fine was paid last evening and he was released.

Magistrate J. commented that both were responsible for the helpless, drunken condition of Forbes and the conduct of both was reprehensible.

Capt. W. Broatch And 2 Mechanics Pilot Loses Control of Machine in Test Flight Over Emma Lake, Sask.—Machine Hurtles 2,000 Feet to Bury Nose in Lake Bottom

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., June 22.—First plane tragedy of the year in northern Saskatchewan last night had claimed the lives of three men near the Brooks air base at Emma Lake, 30 miles north of here.

The dead:

CAPTAIN W. "BILL" BROATCH, pilot, 42.

HELM C. BROOKS, pilot-mechanic, 31.

T. D. FORSTY, mechanic, 28.

Broatch, well known western commercial flier who gained fame in the MacAlpine search, was testing a reconditioned Buick plane at an altitude of 2,000 feet. With him were Brooks and Forsyth, mechanics of the Brooks Airways here.

In the middle of their test, for some unknown reason, the plane dropped in a spin and plunged into a bay of the lake just north of the air base. The plane was hurled through about ten feet of water and was buried in the bottom of the lake.

TWO BODIES FOUND

The bodies of Broatch and Forsyth were recovered shortly after the crash, but the lake bottom was still being dragged later in the day for the body of Brooks, son of R. D. Brooks, president of Brooks Airways here.

Forstyth's body was recovered from Camp Hector to Field, 30 miles through winding prairie. A search party was here today to dig the bodies out of the debris.

Discovery of the two bodies was made Wednesday by the Swiss guides, Rudolf Ammer and C. Hasler, who were conducting a search of the plane. Searches have been made intensively since in young Brooks' body was partly buried 26, making it impossible to find it of any opportunity.

Both skilled skiers, Chris and Joe attempted to be the first to locate the bodies. They were the dangerous Dictionary and Dennis planes which had crashed from Camp Hector to Field, 30 miles through winding prairie. A search party was here today to dig the bodies out of the debris.

Japanese Prove Russians Killed Three Fishermen

Three Fishermen Killed

TOKYO, June 22.—The foreign office announced today the Japanese government had received a copy of an official Soviet report stating that three Japanese fishermen had been killed in Russian waters near Kamshira Peninsula.

A spokesman said Japan still considered the affair as very serious, but is awaiting Moscow's reply to a demand that Russian consuls had killed three Japanese fishermen in Russian waters near Kamshira Peninsula.

JOAN OF ARC'S SHADE SOUGHT BY SCIENTISTS

Searching Investigation of Haunted House Will be Made

STE JEANNE D'ARC D'ALMAVILLE, Que., June 22.—The ghost of St. Jeanne d'Arc will be confronted tomorrow or Saturday night with a searching investigation by police and scientists.

Each night for a month a darkness closed down on this quiet little village, the sleep of the village was disturbed by a terrific family quarrel in a haunted house on the edge of the village. A husband beats his wife unmercifully while the child wails in terror—all of them ghosts.

Police chiefs of two nearby towns, a professor of physics and newspaper men will maintain an all-night vigil to settle the ghost business once and for all—or to interfere in the quarrel.

The haunted house was built as a hotel, but converted into flats. Maurice Martin and Philippe Samson are tenants of the two lower flats. Jean Baptiste Laramée and his family inhabit the upper flats, and the other—belongs to the ghosts.

Leap year boots expenses. The extra day has involved an expenditure of $200,000 for the Royal Air Force alone in England.

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

Sylvia Sydney in the screen version of "Jennie Gerhardt" grows older as the picture progresses. . . . Make-up, costumes and subtle suggestion accomplish the change.

HOLLYWOOD, June 22.—With the present popular vogue for having actors perpetually young, older during the course of a single production, it is interesting to look behind the scenes and find out just how the process is accomplished.

Naturally, it is controlled largely by the make-up man. However, make-up isn't brought into play as fully as might be expected. For one thing, the character must act older. Mere physical appearance isn't sufficient. Another factor is that each individual requires different treatment. There can be no set rule for aging a person on the screen.

AS YEARS PASS
In the opening sequence Sylvia is seen as a "Six years past and is twenty change in the style of her hairdress and a slight padding of her clothing to give her a heavier look. The story then jumps 11 years to 1923. In this period slight make-up was used to make her face reflect the passage of time. But still there was no line—just a few subtle highlights and shadows to give the impression of a drooping or sagging face.

The graying of her hair was not brought in until the final period of 1932. The shadows also were deeper a little. But that was all. The rest of the aging depended upon costumes and Miss Sydney's own mannerisms.

Due largely to the success of his "Mr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" portrait, Fredric March again is turning to a word characterization. This time it will be the role of Death in "Death Takes a Holiday." The production on the picture to start very soon.

EVEN NAMES CONFUSED
Studio executives always have encountered difficulty in making up their minds as to the titles of their pictures. But now they seem to have reached the point where they don't even know what to call their picture.

A couple of weeks ago Adrian Brown was identified for a role in Cecil B. DeMille's new film, "This Time with a Lady." The picture was to be called "The Lady of the Lake." But it was changed again to "Richard Dorne." That was his name last night—but we won't know what it is the same day.

The other day Buster Crabbe decided to go on a diet—he would live on orange juice for an entire week. At night, though, he drank the first thing he saw.

At 10 tonight was tossed off. The third thing he saw was a bottle of beer. He dashed over to the studio and drank it. He was a lot of hokey any way.

ST. JOHN, June 22.—Contrast of surgical hospitals in the time of Lord Joseph Lister with those of today—Pull of hope for suffering men and women—was depicted before the 6th annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association last night by Dr. Robert Muir, professor of pathology at the University of Glasgow.

A world famous pathologist, Dr. Muir gave the fourth Listerian Oration to be delivered before the C.M.A. since the foundation of the organization in 1924 for the purpose of perpetuating the memory of the father of antiseptic surgery.

The large audience gave Dr. Muir an ovation after his reverent Listerian work, interspersing technical explanation.

Economic Improvement Reported by Delegates To Ottawa Postal Meet

Party Greeted in Edmonton Wednesday Evening by Businessmen

Improvement in the economic situation of practically all countries of the world, widely-guided movements on the part of governments to solve the unemployment situation and world-wide optimism were the main points in opinions expressed by delegates to the International Postal Congress at Ottawa, who arrived in Edmonton from the Pacific coast at 7 p.m. Wednesday for a half-hour stop-over here.

Members of the party were greeted by many local business, postal and civic officials who boarded the train at Stony Plain for a short conference while delegates travelled to the city. These officials included the Acting Mayor Herbert Baker, R. W. Hale, district superintendent of postal service, W. W. McEwan, first vice-president, H. M. Evans, C. C. Becker and John Michaels.

L. J. Gouby, deputy postmaster-general for Canada, who will arrive again in Ottawa on June 23.

OUTSTANDING FEATURES
Outstanding features of the Dominion were its immensity and its potential mineral and agricultural wealth, several of the party declared.

They spoke enthusiastically of the reception accorded them in all parts of Canada.

All delegates expressed surprise as being well satisfied with the decisive action their respective governments were taking with a view to ending the present unemployment problem. All government parties, whether of the old-line type or Socialist, were making whole-hearted attempt to find an answer to this question.

Following are the results of interviews with various members of the party, who spoke in French as a medium of common intercourse.

Business: "Our principal report is from men and as we have good production this year we anticipate a better season than for some time," said Ramon B. Tulk, who was accompanied by Marie Tulk.

"Our wine crop is promising while we have an excellent wheat crop," he continued. "I have no hesitation in saying that the outlook is very favorable."

Commerce: "My country was the first to produce sweet coffee and we are maintaining the position as the leading exporter of this commodity," said Edouard Zaldou. "We have 80,000 acres of coffee and have every reason to believe that the annual yield will be still larger next year."

Chocolate: "Chocolate will also be heavy and our tobacco plantations look good. To meet the employment the government supporting mercantile and industrial men can partially grow own feed-stuffs and this is proving very satisfactory."

Switzerland: "While making is our chief industry but of late years the industry has fallen on rather bad times," declared L. Roulet. "The situation has been further accentuated by a falling off in the exchange problem. This will of course be only temporary and we make the best wishes for the future."

France: "Our population of 40 million is increasing and we have 200,000 unemployed. Our situation is meeting the situation by launching out into the repairing building of roads and in public works generally. While we have a statement Italy has ever had kept everyone employed either on rural or industrial work."

Sweden: "While the economic situation is not so good as it was a few years ago, yet it is certainly improving and conditions with us are not so bad as in some other European countries," was the statement of T. Lynd and O. Lager. "Our population of 4 million is increasing and we have 200,000 unemployed. Our situation is meeting the situation by launching out into the repairing building of roads and in public works generally. While we have a statement Italy has ever had kept everyone employed either on rural or industrial work."

Italy: "Conditions in Italy have been a gradual improvement for three years now," said Pietro Rossi, "and for the population of that country there is less suffering and fewer unemployed than in any other country. The situation is meeting the situation by launching out into the repairing building of roads and in public works generally. While we have a statement Italy has ever had kept everyone employed either on rural or industrial work."

Spain: "The spirit of courage and enthusiasm which President Roosevelt championed in his inauguration address finds dramatic expression in the words of the Spanish people, 'Looking Forward,' which production from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer-Comstock who recently produced the sensational 'Gabriel Over the House'."

The role of family life is exemplified by the president, the film employs the same title of 'Looking Forward' which he has been his best-selling book through the action of the motion picture not based on the Roosevelt work.

AMUSEMENTS

CAPITOL
"The Barbarian" with Ramon Novarro cast as an Egyptian leader in the role of a conqueror. The grand tour increases in popularity. The picture is a pocket book, opened last night at the Capitol Theatre where it continues today and Friday, and proved to be one of those fortunately conceived and produced pictures that comes thrilling episodes and a colorful romance with a generous sprinkling of fresh, interesting humor.

On the surface of it, "The Barbarian" depicts an engrossing novel. "Out of the Desert" is the story which visits the Nile country in the production of the sensational "Gabriel Over the House."

The role of family life is exemplified by the president, the film employs the same title of "Looking Forward" which he has been his best-selling book through the action of the motion picture not based on the Roosevelt work.

When once outside the Imp tree, we were Scouty said. "What say you around this lovely forest? Monkeys may be right here. I think they're cute. They can be. They usually live up in a tree. I'd like to find a friendly one. Would you with me and try to find it? It will," said Doty. "It is best if we just let our Imp friend rest."

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

I've heard him say he sleeps for days. We cannot wait that long. "The next best thing for us to do is search till we find something new. Gee, I can stand a real long time. I'm feeling very strong."

"Me, too," cried Doty. "Lead the way! I'm full of pep and full of play. Say, let's play tag. I will be it! Now, everybody run."

In great big caves you must not hide. You'll want to look inside. I'll hunt, though, till I find you all. It will be huge fun. "Aw, Duncy said. "I'll stay with you and help you hunt. I'm too tired to look round until I find a place where I can safely hide. When you find them, I'll gladly about. When I do that they must come out. The others quickly disappeared. "I'm coming," Doty cried.

(The monstrous tree catches Doty in the next story.)

Ancient Africa used fire beetles as lanterns to light their paths. Bundles of the insects were tied to the wrists of the night travelers.

Field Cut to 32 Players in British Amateur Golf with Upsets Wednesday

One of the sad cases of sport history is that of George Cleveland Alexander... He was the greatest pitcher of all time, and with an unequalled record of 20 seasons in the National League, "Old Pete" had a name to conjure with in the diamond sport... STAR PITCHER OF OTHER DAYS TO PLAY HERE

"Old Pete" Alexander in City Monday with House of David

"Old Pete"—one of those heroic figures of baseball—a man who single-handed won a world series for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1927—will be seen in action here on Monday when the House of David play the Edmonton Senior Baseball league at Rutherford Park, the game to start at 8 o'clock.

STARS ADVANCE TO PLAY HERE

Arthur Stott Triumphs in Two Matches, Champion Harry Kinloch Moves Along in Two Events

By JACK OLIVER

Semi-finals in practically all events were determined as a result of Wednesday's play in the annual city tennis championships now in progress at the Glenora club courts. Two of the semi-finalists in men's open singles will be the defending champion, Arthur Stott, and Harry Kinloch, defending titleholder in the men's open singles match with Norman Taylor, the former winning 6-3, 6-0. The winners in both events took advantage of every opportunity to score.

Tony Preps In Defence Of His Title

Drayton Outfit, Struggling Hard in Mud, May Beat Cubs This Evening

Featuring four new players, all of whom Manager Frank Drayton expects will be no little aid to his struggling Shastas, a Senior Amateur Baseball League fixture will be played this evening at Rutherford Park, with the Shastas meeting the Cubs. Hostilities will get under way at 6:30 o'clock.

"Old Pete" liked to look upon the old days when they were red. Or amber. Or gold. Or silver. Or white. The color of the mound itself in this hero of the things...

LONG-AWAITED TRAIL

There have been months of Brown, Red, Waddell, Walter Johnson, Christy Mathewson, from Joe McGinnity, to mention a few of the "greats" who were performing in the world of baseball...

STOTT IN LINEUP

J. Arthur Stott, the elongated pitcher from the University courts, was the player most in the spotlight on Wednesday.

TONY CANTONERI

working out on the punching bag in his training camp is Tony Cantoneri, who will defend his world's lightweight championship against Barney Ross, young Chicagoan, in Chicago June 28.

Probably the great veteran could be still in the major league, taking his turn on the mound, or at least coaching the youngsters. At any rate, they'd like him in the big minors...

CLARK O'DOOL

First baseman Sam Leslie of the New York Giants goes to the Brooklyn Dodgers for outfielder Frank (Lefty) O'Dool and pitcher William Watson Clark, a south paw. It was a straight play final.

When play ceased on Tuesday, Stott and Jimmy Doyle were deadlocked at one set each. They resumed at 10:30 on Wednesday. Stott captured the vital third set at 6-3.

CLYDE TO HOLD PICNIC JULY 1

CLYDE, Alta. June 22—The Clyde community are having a Dominion day picnic on July 1. Baseball and other sports attractions are to be on the program.

WILMINGTON, Del. June 22—Canada's lone seeker after the Delaware state grass-roots tennis crown, Walter Martin, University of Toronto student from Regina, advanced into the quarter final Wednesday with a 6-2, 6-0 victory over the 19th hole of North Carolina.

Staples opened strong. Getting ground and length on his side and taking advantage of Stott's reaction from his match with Doyle, he crashed through to take the first set at 6-3.

AMATEUR SCULLER DENIES SIGNING

HAMILTON, June 22—Bobby Pearce, giant Australian who is the world's greatest sculler, Wednesday denied he had signed articles for a professional title race at Toronto late in August against Ted Phelps, world's professional champion.

Staples seemed well on the way to a straight set win when he led at 2-1 in the second and lacked but one point to take the commanding lead at 3-1. Here he faltered and Stott tied up the set at 4-2.
